How to Make Money As a New Seller on Amazon

Sell a product without any direct competition: Amazon puts all similar products on the same page, making it very difficult to come first on the list, or stand out in any way. If you pick a unique product to sell, you won't have to share the screen with so many other sellers. Buyers will be able to click directly to your store.

This might be one of the biggest decisions to make when it comes to selling on Amazon. Many sellers are apprehensive at first, but having FBA status is the only way you can sign up for a lot of the extras like Amazon's Brand Registry, Amazon Storefront, and more.

If you're just starting your business, it's not likely that you'll have a huge audience or following. Why not identify some other platforms or influencers who do have a following, and collaborate with them?
