The opposite can be true for those that prefer betting on favorites on the money line.

If a customer wants to bet $200, the customer would be placing two betting units, and so on.

Now divide that bankroll by 100.

That number should be your starting unit size.

At WagerTalk, we use a percentage of bankroll when wagering.

How Should Wins and Losses be Calculated?

If you bet one unit on a +120 baseball underdog, you would be risking 1u to profit 1.
