A tweet by a user (drewcoffman) includes screenshots of multiple fake Amazon rev iews written by generative AI. The screenshots highlight that the scammer used t ools like ChatGPT to write fake reviews about a waist trimmer, a book for fifth graders, an aquarium light, and a cookbook. Another user (juokaz) spotted a fake review on Optima batteries. As mentioned, all the reviews start with the text,

'As an AI language model,' which clearly indicates the scammer used ge

In the past, Amazon and Flipkart have highlighted actions taken by the respectiv e companies to combat fake user reviews. In July 2022, Amazon in a blog said tha t the company filed 'legal action against the administrators of more than 1 0,000 Facebook groups that attempt to orchestrate fake reviews on Amazon in exch ange for money or free products.'

In a separate post published in March 2023, Amazon said it filed lawsuits agains t six defendants in new legal efforts to protect its customers and selling partn ers by stopping fake review brokers. Amazon has even spotted websites that help users write fake reviews. Naturally, the company is coming after these websites.

Flipkart also published a post in September 2022 to help users identify fake pro
