These actions are considered to be sinful and are prohibited. Other scholars believe that sports betting is permissible as long as the bets are placed on events that are considered to be fair and just, and not based on chance alone.

Are there any Islamic scholars who permit sports betting?

Some Islamic scholars have stated that sports betting can be permissible as long as it meets certain criteria.

These scholars believe that any form of gambling, whether it is sports betting or any other form, is haram because it is a form of riba (interest or usury) and goes against the teachings of Islam.
