Baccarat is a popular card game where players bet on one of three possible outcomes: The banker wins, the player wins, or there is a tie.

The banker and player are the two hands in the game and the aim is to be the hand with the highest value (closest to nine).

Nine is the highest possible hand value in baccarat, and hands are valued according to units digit of the sum of their constituent cards.

On screen you will see the playing table where cards are dealt.

Most online casinos will offer some of their games in free versions, but often you will first have to register an account to gain access to them.

There are a lot of games to choose from and if you were to play them all with real money, it would turn into a costly affair.
