England's Football Association has also given the Brentford and England striker a 50,000-pound ($62,500) fine for 232 breaches.

Brentford and England striker Ivan Toney has been banned from football for eight months and fined 50,000 pounds ($62,500) for 232 breaches of the Football Association's (FA) betting rules, the English governing body has said.

"The Brentford forward was charged with 262 breaches of FA Rule E8 in total between 25 February 2017 and 23 January 2021," the FA said.

Toney can return to training for the final four months of his suspension starting from September 17, 2023.

We will review them before considering our next steps.

"Toney has scored 20 Premier League goals this season, trailing only Manchester City's Erling Haaland and Tottenham's Harry Kane in the scoring charts.
